Page lists are dynamically created links to a group of pages based on certain selection criteria. BlueSpice has different mechanisms through which these lists can be created.

The following table contains a comparison of the most important features. All of these extensions have additional functionality besides what is listed on this page.

Comparison

Feature /Extension	SMW	SmartList	DPL3	Recent changes transclusion
Select pages based on	- categories - namespaces (include) - properties, concepts - compound queries are possible	- categories - namespaces (include /exclude)	- categories - namespaces (include /exclude) - title match / naming patterns	- namespaces - major/minor version - stable/unstable version - new pages /edits
Standard features	sorting /ordering by any criteria from the page selection	sorting/ordering by title or by time of last edit	sorting /ordering by any criteria from the page selection	sorted by time
Output formats	- different results formats (lists, tables, A-Z style) - custom (via templates)	unordered lists	- different results formats (lists, tables, A-Z style) - custom (userformat)	list view
optionally include /exclude subpages or subcategories	possible	not possible	possible	not applicable
Unique features	shows the display title if a page has one set	- includes only pages that were updated in the last 90 days - VisualEditor support ("Magic word")		- can show edit summaries - namespaces can be color-highlighted
